

CHINA TODAY IN THE EAST ASIAN LIBRARY

Made by China:

How Yesterday's Economic Reform Policies
are Paying Dividends Today

A presentation by Seth Werner

Seth Werner, Lecturer of Marketing and Logistics Management of the Carlson School, will discuss how China's early policies regarding foreign investments have prepared China for future growth. During this brown bag discussion, Mr. Werner will share with the audience basic information about recent trends in foreign investments in China and his thoughts on how Chinese firms are starting to grow into markets beyond China's borders. A key thesis is that these firms are using important market tools well beyond the stereotypical "price advantage."
